

Report on Seminar on Python and Data Science and its startup opportunity

Edunet Foundation has partnered with SAP India, and would like to extend the benefit of SAP Open Learning Platform for the Engineering students from our college to get Certification in the courses that are most relevant for the Engineering students considering the current skill trends required in the job market.

Edunet Foundation was invited for a brief session with the students so as to make them aware about Python and Data Science and its key features with Code Unnati Program on 30th November, 2023. In this seminar around 65 students from 2nd year students from the Computer Engineering Department were present. In this seminar students were performed hands-on session on python using Google Collab along with mongo db database.

Program commenced with a brief Introduction about Edunet Foundation, SAP and Code Unnati Program by Dr. Diwakar Gautam, Master Trainer, Edunet Foundation. Students were also introduced to the Student Start-up and Innovation Program (SSIP).

The Student Start-up and Innovation Program (SSIP) cell in Gujarat, India, actively supports students in patenting their innovations and developing Proof of Concepts (PoCs). The roadmap involves guiding students through the patenting process, providing crucial insights into intellectual property rights. Additionally, the SSIP cell facilitates the creation of PoCs, ensuring students transform their innovative ideas into tangible prototypes. This strategic roadmap aims to nurture a culture of innovation, enabling students to not only conceptualize inventive solutions but also protect their intellectual property and bring their creations to fruition. Furthermore, various events organized by SSIP like Hackathon, Student Open Innovation Challenge (SOIC) were discussed by Prof. Pankti S. Naik and Prof. Kushal D. Patel.
