About Event: The Central Scrutiny event at L.D. College of Engineering showcased innovative ideas from students across various departments as they were presenting best Proof of Concept (PoC) for SSIP 2.0. The event aimed to identify and support promising projects, highlighting creativity and technical skills. Students presented their concepts to a panel of judges, who evaluated them based on criteria such as feasibility, innovation, and potential impact. Then committee selects the best PoC for the funding.

Outcome of Event: The committee selected the best PoC for funding, which will enable further development of the project. Students left the event feeling inspired to innovate and actively participate in future initiatives. This experience fostered a greater sense of collaboration and creativity, encouraging a culture of entrepreneurship within the college.
