Report on Elocution Competition: स्टार्ट-अप थकी समृद्धी (Prosperity from Start-up) organized by e-Cell/SSIP

Under the celebration of Vikas Saptah, on 9th October, the e-Cell/SSIP of VGEC Chandkheda organized an elocution competition under the theme स्टार्ट-अप थकी समृद्धी (Prosperity from Start-up). The elocution competition on "Prosperity from Start-ups" focused on the transformative role of start-ups in driving economic growth and innovation. Participants articulated how start-ups not only create jobs but also foster creativity and competition, contributing to a dynamic economy. They discussed the importance of entrepreneurship in addressing societal challenges, highlighting successful case studies and the impact of technology in scaling businesses. The competition showcased students' understanding of the start-up ecosystem and their vision for a prosperous future fuelled by innovation, resilience, and collaboration. Through their speeches, participants inspired their peers to embrace entrepreneurial thinking and recognize the potential of start-ups in shaping a better tomorrow.

At the end of the competition, all students and faculty members took Bharat Vikas Pledge and showcased commitment to the development and progress of India, focusing on values such as unity, integrity, and the collective effort to build a prosperous nation.
