

Event Title: Idea Sharing Saturday Seminar

Date of Event: 30/11/2024

Venue: S.E.T Mahila College, Junagadh

Organized by: S.E.T Mahila College, Junagadh

Coordinator: Dr. Vijay Nandaniya

The Idea Sharing Saturday Seminar was an enriching and engaging event held at S.E.T Mahila College, Junagadh, under the Student Start-up and Innovation Policy (SSIP). The seminar aimed to provide a platform for students to present their innovative ideas, exchange knowledge, and receive expert feedback, ultimately encouraging entrepreneurship and creative thinking. The event saw a gathering of students, faculty, entrepreneurs, and industry mentors.

The seminar began with a welcome speech by Dr. Vijay Nandaniya, the SSIP Coordinator. Dr. Nandaniya expressed the importance of nurturing ideas and innovations among the youth, emphasizing the role of SSIP in bridging the gap between students' ideas and real-world entrepreneurship. He highlighted the vision of S.E.T Mahila College in fostering a start-up ecosystem within the academic environment. The event was officially inaugurated with the lighting of the lamp, symbolizing the illumination of ideas and knowledge.

Following the inauguration, students from various disciplines presented their innovative ideas in front of the audience. These presentations covered a wide range of topics, including technology, health care, sustainable energy, education, and social entrepreneurship. Each student had the opportunity to explain their concept, its potential impact, and the solution it offered to real-world problems.

- Technology Solutions: Ideas related to smart devices, AI-based applications, and software development.
- Health & Wellness: Proposals focused on innovative healthcare solutions and health-tech startups.
- Sustainability Initiatives: Projects aimed at addressing environmental concerns and promoting sustainable living.
- Social Impact Projects: Ideas focused on social issues like education, rural development, and community empowerment.

The presentations were followed by valuable feedback from industry experts, successful entrepreneurs, and faculty members. Mentors provided insightful suggestions on how to refine the students' ideas, emphasizing aspects like market research, customer identification, feasibility studies, and funding sources. The session was highly interactive, with mentors engaging directly with students to answer their queries and guide them through potential challenges in executing their ideas.

The Idea Sharing Saturday Seminar at S.E.T Mahila College, Junagadh was a successful event that achieved its goal of promoting innovation and entrepreneurship among students. The seminar provided valuable insights, practical knowledge, and networking opportunities, helping students take their first steps toward turning their ideas into viable start-ups.

Under the leadership of Dr. Vijay Nandaniya, the event created an encouraging environment for students to explore their potential and broaden their perspectives. The college plans to organize more such events to nurture the spirit of innovation, build a strong start-up ecosystem, and support the entrepreneurial journey of students.
