Major Content of the program:	The session focused on promoting innovation and entrepreneurial thinking among Homoeopathic students. The speaker explained how SSIP provides financial support, mentoring, and incubation facilities for student-led ideas. The objective of the seminar was to create awareness about converting innovative ideas into real-world solutions, especially in the field of Homoeopathy. Students were guided on procedures for applying for SSIP grants, developing prototypes, validating ideas, and accessing the startup ecosystem. • To promote awareness about innovation and entrepreneurship.

	 To introduce opportunities under SSIP, IIC, and CVMUISC. To motivate students to submit innovative ideas for SSIP funding. To guide students on the startup ecosystem, incubation, and idea execution. To encourage students to utilise available government and university-level startup support.
